

第十二届国际电化学阻抗谱会议
12th International Symposium on EIS

Announcement For Postponing EIS 2022

Dear colleagues

We, on the behalf of the Organizing Committee of 12th Symposium on Electrochemical Impedance Spectroscopy (EIS 2022), regret to announce that EIS 2022 will be postponed, due to the strict restriction on international travels all over the world. It is a shared belief that a symposium on site, where we can meet face-to-face, are the tradition of this Symposium and the best way to communicate information, exchange ideas, and strengthen the EIS community. We sincerely appreciate your understanding of this hard decision.

We are grateful to all your supports for EIS 2022, including the suggestions, submissions, and promotion in your countries or regions. The new date for the Symposium on EIS is still under consultation and depends on the travel situation. Please refer to the website (www.eis2022.com) for any update. Please feel free to contact us by e-mail: eis2022@buct.edu.cn, or electrochem@aliyun.com, should you have any question.

Stay safe and hope to meet you during the Symposium on EIS in Beijing.

Yours sincerely,

Xingyue Yong Jianbo Zhang
Professor

Chairman of EIS 2022

